ORDER

LORETTA A. PRESKA, Senior United States District Judge:

The Court is in receipt of the parties' letters regarding the unsealing of certain materials filed under seal in the Republic's summary judgment filings. [See dkt. nos. 149, 159.]<sup>1</sup> Although such materials carry a "strong presumption of [public] access," continued sealing is justified when a district court renders "specific, on-the-record findings that sealing is necessary to preserve higher values" and issues a sealing order "narrowly tailored to achieve that aim." See Brown v. Maxwell, 929 F.3d 41, 47 (2d Cir. 2019).

The Court finds that the reasons for continued sealing proffered by Plaintiffs in their letter [dkt. no. 159], that is, that the documents contain commercially sensitive information, financial records of non-public entities, confidential ownership structures and original purchasing entities not at issue in this case, personal contact information, and the like, outweigh any presumption of public access in the unsealing of such materials.

Accordingly, the Republic may file documents on the public docket that are redacted in accordance with Plaintiffs' letter and the Protective Order [dkt. no. 50].

SO ORDERED.
